

PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

THE PRESS.

MONDAY MORNING, JAN. 1, 1872.

The Champion of Slender.

[From Harper's Weekly.]

It is unfortunate that there should have been an impression, not justified by the facts, that any Republican Senators wished to hide corruption from the people. The investigations of the methods and expenses of the Government. There is no such disposition in the party. There was none such upon the part of the Senators who opposed Mr. Trumbull's resolution. That there is none upon the part of the President is shown by the fact that he has put himself at the head of the movement for its exposure.

"At an average 40,000 per week; but we are running up much above that."

"How many mouths will that feed?" inquired.

"If they eat them up. Maybe it's according to whether they cut them in our or not."

"How on earth did this colossal business begin?" we asked.

"In the simplest way. My wife commenced baking with a range, and when we had sold the first four we made four more. After that I will be wiser and make no more. I understand the pressure—no, not a little range won't do it. The people will wild on our pies, and it's a kind of a question of overwhelming way ever since."

"Americans are, then, the pie-eaters of the world?"

"Pies and liberty go hand-in-hand, it's a constant business. Cheap fruit may affect us for a month or so, but ever so little. No range will do it. The people will buy, but apples are staple all the year round."

to those who are opposed to him to make it appear that he is not the man he convives at. And Mr. Schurz said, as we stated last week, that no evidence implicated the President in the alleged abuses of the General Land Office. He had been repeatedly and, he thought, the remark has been repeated, that there was some mysterious power that sustained those abuses. Yet the power in that sense is higher than the Secretary of the Interior. What does Mr. Schurz mean? We gave him credit for candor, but we were not to be implicated by any evidence. But if the story had no proof, were not his words an unkindly insinuation?

If the position to the President hopes to stand him before the country as a dishonest man, it is a dishonest position. It is an abuse and an illegitimate method of opposition.

"The Queen of Hearts,
She has a garden,
All on a summer's day,
That makes her garden
In the nursery rhyme,
What, with forty harts and thirty horses play,
And the King of Hearts,
He has a garden,
All on a summer's day,
That makes his garden
In the nursery rhyme,
What, with forty harts and thirty horses play,
And the King of Hearts,
He has a garden,
All on a summer's day,
That makes his garden
In the nursery rhyme,
What, with forty harts and thirty horses play,"

"Are you well posted in the history of modern defamation, and the policy of personal attacks? We asked. It is Dulich, is it not? Brought. "Very likely, but it's an American invention. "You don't know how old it is, do you?" "Very thought of that. Sir: age good a year. hurt our sinners. Good a year old."

Thanking our worthy pie-manufacturer for his hospitality, we saved the scraps and ate them still in our mouth, we left, happy with the thought that our beloved chronicle had not deceived us. The venerable old man had a thousand oxen at the Abbey of St. Dennis and gave nine into mince-meat—yes, every one of them.

Very High Church.
"Ell Perkins," of the New York Commercial Advertiser, visits the new ritualistic

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

The constantly exposed beams still more despicably stand out against the sky, and it is believed that they must be a serious reason for such insinuation and slander will find their way through the stories, and to reflect upon the immense misrepresentation to which every conspicuous public man is subjected by the press, and the danger that if the falsehood and the exaggeration are removed, the personal gossip about the President is as causeless as it is contemptible.

A Pie Factory.

A reporter of the New York Times gives the following account of a Gotham pie factory:

"Walking along one of the avenues there was a pleasant odor. It recalled the longest summer day, the warmest breeze, the sunniest youthful senses, long, long ago. Like a the next great "jubilee" will be $225 foot long, 60 feet wide, and will cost $1,000,000. The height of the new building is to be 172 feet, the roof supported by arches which will spring from the ground on each side and end, and will be covered with glass. The amount of sound which delects Boston can get into a room here like battery off toy-guns, and the earthquake would pass for a sole on a pile-drum."

Cripples.

"A New Hampshire man recently refused to subscribe to a weekly paper because it helped to build up the city where he lived and the wealthier town was the higher the

[illegible][illegible]

Sealed Proposals
WILL be received until January 6, 1872, at the Vice-consul, for building the labor on Grand Hall to the new building on the corner of Hall and the materials for building on the ground between the new building and the corner of
J. W. Lawrence.
J. W. LAWRENCE,
BENJ. CHAPMAN,
JAMES W. HARRIS,
Building Committee Canal Zone.
Yarmouth, Dec. 1, 1871.

Notice to the Legislature of Maine
THE Directors of the Buxton Estate Bank, hereby give notice to the Legislature of Maine, that they change of their charter, so that they can buy the stock of the Buxton Estate Bank, in town of Buxton, Maine.
The Directors.
A. K. P. LOIRD, President.
Dec. 1, 1871.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the subscriber has been duly appointed and taken upon himself the duties of the position of machine, grinding and rumbling away? It is the mince-meat-maker, the crowning masterpiece of the whole.

"What?" we asked, "are all those vats full of mince-meat?"

"Yes," replied the proprietor, "and we are dreadfully short, and can hardly keep up with the demand. That poor machine is worked beyond its capacity."

"How many pies do you turn out in a week?" we asked, aglask.

In the County of Cumberland, deceased, and given bonds as the law directs. All persons having claims upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

ALBERT W. BRADBUCK, Adm'r.
Portland, Nov. 24th, 1871. dclt-sw

REMOVAL.

D^r. H. SHACKFORD has removed to No 70 Park street door above Brammer School House.
at 2 o'clock

